THE HARTFORD HERALD.

"I COME, THE HERALD OF A NOISY WORLD, THE NEWS OF ALL NATIONS LUMBERING AT MY BACK"

VOL. 3.

HARTFORD, OHIO COUNTY, KENTUCKY, JULY 4, 1877.

NO. 26.

United We Stand.

Editor Herald:

There are periods in the history of Nations, States, individuals, and we think in political parties, when forbearance ceases to be a virtue. Those premises being admitted by all to be true, we propose, in this short communication, to enter our solemn protest against a very few malcontents, who persist in trying to stir up strife, where, but for them, there would be none. There has appeared in the HERALD at least two communications from the gushing, though we think misguided, pen of your Rosine correspondent, which, to say the least of it, is ill-timed and out of place, and it they have any influence at all, it cannot be good, but must have the opposite effect, when it is known by all that the political slate for the next election is made up, and with as good or better satisfaction than is generally the result under the circumstances, now why continue to carp and howl about it. The fact is, somebody has a dull axe to grind; have been left out in the cold or want notoriety. The fact is, all such should step down and out, and go over to those whose interest they are serving, for one enemy in the camp is more to be dreaded than ten inside their own lines. Then why all this flutter about Pigeon Roost? We certainly have a first-class ticket in the coming August election, in the person of our young and promising friend, Capt. Sam E. Hill, for the Senate, who is honest, industrious, sober; of first-class moral character, and has intellectual attainments above common, and good, hard horse sense enough to be at all times master of the situation in the State Senate. It is true he is a fine lawyer, but that is so much the better, all other matters being equal.

In our venerable friend, W. D. Coleman, we have all the elements necessary in the make-up of a good Representative. He, too, is honest, sober, and an honored member of his church. Zealous in every good and laudable enterprise, has good intellectual acquirements, and a plenty of good, hard, common sense to fill with dignity the place to which he aspires. He is a first-class farmer and if not the best, is one of the best stock men in the county, having done more to improve the stock than any other man known to us. I do not write these lines with ill-feelings towards any one, but simply in the hope that if there is dissatisfaction in the ranks to any extent, they may reflect. I can assure you there is more unanimity of feeling here than usual, and all will heartily support the ticket.

BEAVER DAM, KY., June 25, 1877.
Editor Herald:
I see in your issue of the 20th inst. a communication from E. F. Tilford, also one before that, calling on the Democratic committee to call another convention for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the Legislature. I do not wish to get into a controversy on this subject, but in my judgment the call is out of time.

We have a candidate that was regularly nominated by a convention regularly organized, and his claims, with others, were submitted to that convention, composed of delegates from all the districts in the county. Coleman was the choice, and so declared by the Chairman. The aim of some of the friends of Mr. Barrett was to defeat Mr. Hocker, which they did by going for Mr. Coleman. Now, as we were defeated in our choice, let us rally to the support of Mr. Coleman. We can elect him; the question is will we or no. Let very true Democrat in the county respond "we will," and the work will be done.

We should vote for Mr. Coleman not only because he is a substantial farmer, and an honest man, both of which he is, but because he is a true Democrat clothed with the nomination of the party. Hush talking of another candidate. If another convention was called we have no assurance but what the same vexations might arise, and probably with more aggravating features. Let us rally on the first Monday in August, resolved on victory. Let it not be said that we were for Mr. Hocker, Mr. Barrett or any body else, but let it be published abroad that we are for the Democratic party and Democratic principles, and for the Democratic nominee.

A Beautiful Sentiment.
Shortly before his departure for India the lamented Heber preached a sermon which contained the beautiful sentiment: "Life bears us on like the stream of a mighty river. Our boat glides down the narrow channel through the playful murmuring of the little brook, and the winding of its grassy borders. The trees shed their blossoms over our young heads, the flowers on the brink seem to offer themselves to our young hands; we are happy in hope, and grasp eagerly at the beauties around us—but the stream hurries on, and still our hands are empty. Our course in youth and manhood is along a wider flood, amid objects more striking and magnificent. We are animated at the moving pictures of enjoyment and industry passing over us, we are excited at some short-lived disappointment. The stream carries us on, and our joys and griefs are alike left behind us. We may be shipwrecked, we cannot be delayed, whether rough or smooth, the vessel hastens to its home, till the roar of the ocean is in our ears, and the tossing of the waves is beneath our feet, and the land lessens from our eyes, and we take our leave of earth and its inhabitants, and on our further voyage there is no witness, save the "Infinite and Eternal."

We were, favored last Saturday evening with a visit from our esteemed friend, Scott Taylor, from Taylortown, who reports crops excellent and the people almost a unit for Coleman and Hill. When did Agriology editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer locate at Rosine? I think if teachers were to adopt the suggestions of Loquagles in regard to writing to the HERALD their views on teaching, etc., all other matters would be crowded out, and the HERALD would go too. Air yourself in the approaching Institute, friend Loquagles. H. B. T.

Hoover Hill Items.

HOVER HILL, June 25, 1877.

Editor Herald:
Seeing many interesting letters from most all parts of the county, I thought I would give Hoover Hill a blow, but not a very hard one, for we might slide it down in the hollow. Just on the top of this hill E. C. Hoover & Co. are doing a very extensive business in the blacksmith trade. E. C. gives the people to understand that he can nail a horseshoe on, make a plow, sharpen your grubbing-hoe, &c., just as good as any body, and for less money.

Farmers are very busily engaged in plowing; some have plowed their corn over the second time, and some are laying by. There has been a very large crop of tobacco set in this neighborhood, but there is not much prospect of its bringing a very good price. We think if the farmers would quit planting so much tobacco, and pay a little more attention to the raising of stock and small grain, it would be more profitable to them and also to their farms.

Corn is growing rapidly since the rain. Wheat and oats are looking fine, and we think they will present an abundant yield. Rev. T. J. Pender preached to a large congregation at White Oak school house on the 24th inst. The subject was Infant Baptism. The sermon was lengthy and very interesting.

Now, Mr. Editor, we wish you great success, and the HERALD a wide circulation.

Swearing.

A little boot-black was standing at the entrance of a city hotel, waiting for a "job" when two young men dressed in the extreme of the fashion puffing away at their Spanish cigars stopped before him.

"Here boots," said one in a tone of lofty superiority, "let me see if you are master of your trade!" placing his foot on the boy's knee as he spoke. The boot-black plied his brush with skill, and the boot soon brightened under his ready touch; the young bloods among themselves, meanwhile, lay trying to frighten the boy to make more haste, by swearing at him.

The little fellow stood it as long as he could, when, having finished one boot, he suddenly dropped the foot, and returned the brush in the box in which he carried them.

"What now?" asked the young dandy. "I would rather not finish that boot to your swearing."

"Not finish them?" exclaimed the well-to-do with an oath; then you won't see the color of my money."

"I don't want your money," said the boy, "and I won't stay here and listen to your swearing."

"Let the boy alone," interrupted the other man, "and let him finish the job."

"Well and good," said the first speaker but it is a rare job, that a boot-black should be afraid of swearing."

"I can't afford to swear," answered the boot-black, with a significant glance upward.

Do you mean that it costs anything to swear?" asked the man in astonishment. "Yes replied the boot-black, with solemn earnestness, "it will cost me my soul."

Let all those who read these lines remember this.

One of the Fastest Families.
When Mrs. George Washington Lee, one of the fastest in old Virginia, appeared at the door, the other morning, and yelled across the street, "Chillun, come here to yo' mudder!" the "kum" in a hurry.

"Martha Washington and Thomas Jefferson, what's I tole you 'bout playin' in wid po' white trash?"

"Nuffin." "Don't get my passion rose, chillun, or I will war you out."

"We'll tell the truth."

"Don't I slabe for you day after day ober de wash-tub for de quality? Don't I try to make you specitful? Don't I gin you de grub dat fills your stomachs? You heah me?"

"Yessum."

"Is you gwine to do it any mo?"

"None."

"Dat'll do now; take yo' fingers out 'f yo' moud, and you, Martha Washington, get de big dish pan and take yo' brudder, Thomas Jefferson, and go down dar below do depot and get a mess of greens; I'll zamine yo' heads when you 'come back, and if I find a single booger in 'em I'll know yo's his playin' wid de white trash and I'll tan dem black hides o' yo's scallows."—Baltimore Gazette.

Not Much Ahead.

A man with the most lone some expression an artist ever conjured up for canvas, halted at an eating stand in the Central market yesterday, and said:

"My good woman, I have been robbed of eight thousand dollars. I am a thousand miles from home, and penniless."

"And you want something to eat?" "Yes ma'am."

"You shall have it. Sit right down here."

He sat down, and she gave him some coffee, a piece of meat and a biscuit.

"Madame, did you really believe my story?"

"No, sir," she replied.

"You thought I lied, did you?" "I knew you did."

"But you gave me food?"

"So I did. My boy found a dog yesterday, and I gave him more than he could eat. I simply gave you what was left to save filling up the dog pail."

"Madame," began the man, as he commenced to draw around, "I—I don't know whether I am ahead of the dog or the dog ahead of me on this thing; but I know you are ahead of both, and I feel sick. You've played it well, and there's any dying declaration in my case I won't mix you in."—Detroit Free Press.

SOUTH CAROLINA, KY., June 26, '77.
Messrs. W. F. Gregory, E. D. Walker, F. P. Morgan, J. P. Barrett and others:

GENTLEMEN:—In response to your very complimentary invitation, to visit, and preach a sermon, for the citizens of your town at an early day, permit me to mention the Fifth Sunday in July next, as the only Sabbath that I can command my engagements in the near future, and if it will suit you, please make the announcement. Since the appearance of your communication in the Hartford HERALD, having received several solicitations to repeat the Lecture delivered at Beaver Dam in April last, I will attempt to comply with these requests also, and therefore the subject will be suggested by the question, "What is Life?" I have denominated your invitation as a complimentary one, for the reasons, first that it comes from my old native town, subscribed by many old friends and many of the associates of my youth, and secondly, because it comes irrespective of sectarian or denominational boundaries and limits. I will suggest ten o'clock, a. m., as the hour for the exercises to begin.

Your most obedient servant,
J. S. COLEMAN.

Senator McClellan, of New Jersey, is said to be in favor of the silver dollar and of Hendricks as the Democratic candidate for President in 1880. EDUCATIONAL.

We will be assisted in this department by E. P. ROWE, Common School Commissioner.

Notes from the School Commissioner.
The Ohio County Teachers' Institute will be held at Hartford, beginning Monday, July 23, 1877, and continuing four days.

Teachers' certificates will be endorsed at the Institute.

Those who do not attend the Institute will forfeit their certificates.

The county board of examiners will meet on the first Saturday in each month. Applicants for certificates must apply at that time.

But one text-book of the same grade can be used in a school. The regulation of the state board is to this effect: If pupils come with two or more different text-books, the teacher must use only one; otherwise there will be a multiplicity of classes and serious loss in the power of the teacher. The state board recommends certain books, but the rule is mandatory that there must not be two spellings, for instance, of the same grade, each with a different book. The best interests of the pupils are involved in thorough respect for this law, and teachers should be scrupulous in its observance, and not permit unnecessary prejudice and parsimony to control in a matter of such paramount importance.

Education for Farmers.
Farmers, you are degrading your vocation in the eyes of your own children; you are creating in their minds a prejudice against what ought to be the most honorable of secular callings; and you are retarding the cause of agricultural progress, by the low estimate which you place upon the education needed for your sons when you desire to see follow in your footsteps.

Besides all this, you are in error when you hold that a man who cultivates the soil does not need an education. Leaving out of the calculation all consideration of what may be called professional education, or that education which is specially designed as training for a particular calling in life; there is a certain amount of education which should be common to all vocations.

And this is education in the higher and truer sense; a system of mental culture intended to develop or draw out the mind, whereby it is trained to think correctly, and to gather from the world around it materials for a happy and useful life. This much education every man would be the better for having, whether he is to be a farmer or a philosopher.—Southern Plantation.

The Russo-Turkish War.

From the Courier-Journal.

The Grand Duke Nicholas has at length ordered some positive work, and while the Russian batteries at Rastchuk and Rastchuk are thundering away at Rastchuk and Rastchuk, yesterday, the Russian corps crossed the Semaitza to Rastchuk, and a similar movement was inaugurated from Turnu-Margarelli to Nicolopolis. From these two points a number of roads lead over the Balkans, passing through Plevena, twenty miles south. The difficulties of Abdul Kerim, the Commander-in-chief of the Turkish armies, are apparent. General Zimmermann is moving down through the Dobrukscha on the quadrilateral, and the advance of the Grand Duke Nicholas to the west of the four great fortresses will necessitate a judicious division of the Turkish forces, with a narrow chance of escaping annihilation. The head quarters of Abdul Kerim are at Shumla, the strongest point of the quadrilateral, 135 miles southeast of Rastchuk. The majority of the Turkish forces are cast of the locality of the Russian crossing, and largely distributed in the four fortresses of the quadrilateral, there being at Rastchuk alone 50,000 men. The point in Zimmermann's Dobrukscha movement is apparent. The Turkish force have a two large armies to meet, which apparently have no intention of laying siege to the quadrilateral, as was done with such disastrous results in 1853. There will be a desperate struggle south of Nicolopolis, but the Russians have been arranging their forces so that as soon as they are over the river they will follow in succession, and the Turks will be outnumbered. To meet the Russian at Nicolopolis and Sistora, Osman Pasha will have to hurry his forces about Wudin, which will open another avenue to the Russians from Kalafat, opposite. As the best roads over the Balkans run through Western Bulgaria, it is probable that the Russians will proceed in that direction in their advance to Central Bulgaria. It is noticeable that the success of General Diebitsch, in the campaign of 1828-9, when he reached Adrianople, in Rometia, and dictated terms to the Sultan, was due to the fact that he abandoned all attempts to besiege the fortresses of the quadrilateral and pushed on as rapidly as he could over the Balkans, leaving the Turks behind him. The Russians appear to be following the same successful programme today. The distance from the Danube to the Balkan passes varies from fifty to seventy miles, over a series of plateaus covered with undergrowth and seams with small and rapid streams. Of the thirty-three passes in the range only four or five are practicable for artillery. Every pass has been left by nature in a condition to be made almost impregnable, but the Turks are said to have greatly neglected this important work, and have devoted themselves to their third line of defense from Sofia to Kara Burnu, to insure the safety of Constantinople.

The Russians have secured an accession to their force of siege guns at Kara, and are battering away with redoubled vigor at the Turkish earthworks and basalt fortresses. The Turkish garrison of Kara numbers 30,000 men, and their guns 355. The only occurrence which will expedite the siege would be the joint effort of the Russian forces, and that is what the Russians are trying to effect now. It would then be completely isolated from the world, and it would capitulate without a shot. In the meantime the Russians have an ugly job at Batoum, where the Turkish line is the constant aid of the Turkish iron-clads lying off the shore. Both belligerents in Armenia are fighting with dogged zeal, the Turks, always good hands at defending fortifications, showing more than usual obstinacy, and avoiding open-field conflicts as much as possible. The interest now centers at Zevin, which is only thirty-five miles from Erzeroum, and the decisive battle of the Asiatic campaign will undoubtedly take place in the valley of the Araxes, whether reinforcements for both sides are now hurrying. It is also reported that a Russian detachment has succeeded in getting in the rear of the Turkish center.

Editor Herald:

Well—I guess it is about the right time in the moon to be on the war path again, and as we have been very much refreshed at this evening with a nice shower, we will venture a few lines.

We would be pleased if we could say something about our crops that would be interesting to the many readers of the Herald, I suppose crops are on an average, as good here as any point in the county, and it is useless to weary you with just what our people are going to do, and how many pretty girls there are in our fractional little burg. No person has been lucky enough to get stashed or shot. No politicians have put in their appearance as yet, consequently we have nothing new, novel or startling to communicate. We would be pleased to have Mr. Coleman visit us during his canvassing tour, and make us a speech, so we may know more of him. We are in for Mr. Coleman, or any regular Democratic nominee—and we think it very inconsiderate in any one claiming to be Democratic in principle, to create any dissension in the ranks at this time—it is a question of no good, and will certainly prove detrimental to our party, if persisted in.

We are informed that Mr. Robert Moely, of McLean county, celebrated his Silver Wedding on the 11th of June, quite a large number of relations and acquaintances were present—variously estimated to be between two hundred and fifty and three hundred persons. One hundred and sixty eating at one time—and enough left to have fed as many more—meats, bread stuff, nuts and candies in profusion. Mr. Moely sent for Mr. Coleman who officiated as Master of ceremonies—marrying over again Mr. M. and lady, and we are informed that the old gentleman looked as spry as a boy of eighteen summers, died wife, and at conclusion of the ceremony, gave his wife a smacking kiss in memory of just forty years ago. May they live still another forty years. May no shadow dim their bright future, may they commence life again anew, living over again the golden moments of youth, learning by experience to shun many of the temptations and mishaps that too frequently mar the happiness of youthful indiscretion, and when extreme old age, according to the laws of nature shall sever the link that holds them prisoners here, may they reunite beyond the Jordan where they neither marry nor give in marriage.

Rev. W. W. Cook preached to a very large audience on last Sunday, all well pleased. Come again Bro. Cook. He said he would give us a skeleton of a text, but before he closed he had wealth embodied it to such an extent that we were extremely pleased with skeletons, like 'em better than we had imagined we would. More anon, Monoc.

For the Hartford Herald.

A Sensible Talk with Ohio County Teachers.

I am proud of my county with its paper, proud of my State with its many improvements, proud of my country with its great and grand improvements—but I am sorry to see that an effort is making to bulldoze the teachers, my more, the entire population of Ohio county, as to the real object and use of a Teachers' Institute. In the first place, how absurd the idea is of exhuming, in a session of two or three days, truths enough (from Hutton, Pike, or anybody else) to enable any one to fill with competency the responsible position that devolves upon a teacher! Moreover the entire time is not devoted to Arithmetic or any one branch of study, but the entire "English course" is discussed and in such a way as to render it perfectly disgusting. Show me a teacher that the Institute has qualified (?) and sent forth, and I will show you a failure in the school room and an imposition upon the people. Again, in the place of the teachers of the county expressing freely their views with reference to the proper mode of conducting the common schools, the time is occupied by Dr. "A." or Prof. "B." who tells the teacher of a Common School how he conducts the High School here or a Select school there.

How long, my fellow-teachers, are we to be imposed upon in this way?

Granting that the "imported faculty" is fully competent to instruct the entire corps of teachers in the county, how many have ever been benefitted by hearing how they conduct a High School? We have been a silent, but not a careless observer of the course practiced upon the people of the county for some time past. We notice a clause which reads, "Remember that willful non-attendance would be considered a point against you"—speaking of those who prefer forfeiting their certificates to being forced by a sham Institute. What more does the language import than that any one who will attend the Institute can procure a certificate, while one who absents himself (no matter what his qualifications are, or what his reputation as a teacher may be) will be stigmatized as a non-conformer to pedagogic rules and counted out. Further, no teacher would, of his own accord, stay away from the convention if it were at all instructive; but being so, those who have taken the trouble to qualify themselves would rather leave the county than pass through so severe a drilling as they would have to pass during the lengthy term of this great farce of teachers' week. Island Station.

If farmers can sell their present crops for a remunerative price, it will go far toward getting the country out of the present hard times, for, without some unforeseen and unexpected calamity, the yield of all farm products will be large.

Politics seem to be the all-absorbing theme here, (McLean county), at this time. At least candidates would have us think so. We had a meeting of the "dear people" here, day before yesterday. We had half a dozen speeches, and only about half the candidates present. They labored (yes, that's the word—labored) hard to show some difference between them. But the only point upon which they succeeded was upon the point of availability. Each one seemed to be deeply impressed with the idea that he had more of this kind of "ability" than any other. The difficulty with us here, for years, has been just what your county has experienced this year, the satisfactory adjustment of the claims of aspirants for office. We have heretofore tried to reach this through a convention. And for the last ten years we have failed to elect the man thus chosen. The Democratic nominee has in these instances been defeated in this way. After the convention some man would come out as an independent Democrat. And by rallying to his support all the disaffected Democrats and Republicans, the nominee was beaten. The Republicans are not strong enough here to put a candidate of their own in the field with any hope of success. And they are ever ready to avail themselves of any man or any "thing" to beat the nominee, and thus disorganize the party. This year we are going to try the "Primary Election" plan. Whether this will be more satisfactory than the old way remains yet to be seen. If some disappointed aspirant should be a chance to succeed, by splitting the Democratic party, and by a few concessions (which such men are ever ready to make) gaining the Republican vote, I don't think it will be done. I mean such political aspirants as have no more Democracy and no more man about them than to do such things. And it doesn't require very much of either to keep a man from such a course. I am sorry to see the outpouring of some little dissatisfaction in regard to the Democratic nominee in your county, (Ohio), especially as looking to a new selection. That would be like stopping in the midst of battle to change officers. Defeat would be inevitable.

At the present solicitation of many of our patrons and those who desire to become such, so soon as the needful can be secured, we have determined to extend the time of receiving subscriptions, and allowing them to participate in premiums to the 1st Monday in AUGUST, election day. We now want more subscribers for the Herald than either of the candidates get votes in this county. We are going to run that kind of race with them.

General Local News.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1877.

Notice change in the Paducah & Elizabethtown Railroad time-table, this week.

William Arnold, of Owensboro, is visiting his home in this place.

Everybody should attend the Sabbath school celebration, near town, to day.

Barbecue and picnic are very common in the county just now, there being about one a week.

Thomas Linder, Esq., living near Calhoun, was in town Thursday and Friday. He called up to see while here.

Miss Nettie Miller, who has had charge of the school at Rockport for several months past, returned home Monday evening.

There is one good thing about Crook's "Never Fail," and "Electric Oil," it is only 25 cents per bottle and it will not bankrupt you to give it a trial.

Miss Prudence Baird, who has been teaching school near Rockport for several months past returned home Saturday evening, her school having closed.

Miss Mary Rowe, of this city, an amiable and intelligent young lady, left Friday for Greenville, to visit the family of her uncle, Mr. Mansfield Rowe.

Miss Anna E. Hill, step-daughter of Mr. A. C. Ellis, near this place, who has been attending Nazareth Academy, near Bardonia, for two months past, returned home last Friday.

Mr. Thomas Newcomb, living near Rockport, this county, shot and killed an owl last Wednesday that measured four feet and three inches from tip to tip. Can you beat it?

Dr. Henry Baldwin, of Elizabethtown is in town, the guest of the Hartford House. Those wishing dentistry of any kind, should do well to give him a call, as he will remain in town only a few days.

Are you worried with headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, rheumatism or any pains or aches, do not fail to go to Z. W. Griffin's Drug Store and get a bottle of Crook's "Never Fail," only 25 cents, and it "never fails" to cure.

Prof. T. G. Arnold, who is well-known here, having assisted Prof. Hayward in the school here in 1872, has accepted the position of principal of the Cloverport high school, and will commence school on the 3d of September, 1877.

Miss Nellie Taylor, one of the most amiable young ladies of our acquaintance, who has been teaching school at Goshen for three months past, returned to her home here last Friday, her school closing that day.

Do not suffer any longer from old sores, tetter, ring worm, scald head, chaps, old skin diseases and cutaneous eruptions, but go at once and procure of Z. W. Griffin a bottle of Crook's Electric Oil and cure yourself. It will cure these ills in less than a week. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Go to E. T. Williams to get good tea.

Just received at E. T. Williams, four bags extra quality Laguyra and Rio coffee.

Sunday was by far the warmest day of the season, the thermometer registering 92° in the shade at 4 o'clock.

Will the trustees of the town please read the communication from "H. D. T." upon the mode of working the streets?

C. C. Bennett, living near Buckhorn, presented us with a few heads of his wheat. It is called the Pennsylvania Red, and is a very fine specimen.

The celebrated Buckeye Reaper and Mower for sale by Williams Bros. This machine has stood the test of field trials, and has proven a first-class machine.

Misses Calista Shull and Gertrude Houston, two of Hartford's fair daughters, left Friday morning to attend the Sabbath School picnic at Rockport, on Saturday.

We heard from our friend Coleman the other day. He had his ears pinned back and was running like a little man. He is right after Maudie now, and chasing him no last that the poor fellow can't stop long enough to get breath.

Are you suffering from cramp colic or diarrhea? then go at once to Z. Wayne Griffin's and get a bottle of Crook's "Never Fail." It is so named because it "never fails" to cure. Price 25 cents a bottle.

If you are unfortunate enough to get burned, scalded or cut yourself severely, do not delay, but go at once to Z. Wayne Griffin and procure a bottle of Crook's Electric Oil, which will give you speedy relief and an early cure. Only 25 cents a bottle.

Mr. L. B. Loney, living near McHenry, this county, presented us with a sample of his oats last Monday. We did not learn the name of them, but must say they are the best we have seen this season, measuring, clear of roots, five feet and ten inches. We are glad to see such efforts being made in the county to improve this and other grains.

Don't go and pay $15 or $16 for a No. 7 cook stove, Palmetto or Farmer, when you can get one from Geo. Klein & Bro. at $12.50 with the following: One wash boiler, one stew pan, one coffee boiler, one teakettle, three sheet iron pans, two pots, two skillets, two griddles, one iron heater, one gridiron, two pot covers, one cover lifter, two joints of pipe and one elbow.

RAY AND MOLE EXTERMINATOR.—Mr. J. W. Leach, of Booneville, found a weasel in a hollow log on his premises and routed him out and in the log he found seven more that had fallen victim to his wileship. He says the rats do not trouble him, and he thinks the weasel is the cause. But then weasels are lightning on young chickens, and the question is which is the worst pest, moles and rats or weasels.

Throw off that despondent spirit, crush that feeling of despair, be cheerful, happy and well. Take Simon's Liver Regulator, it is no humbug, its virtues can be proved by hundreds right here at home. Examine the certificates. It has cured the worst cases of dropsy, dyspepsia, and prevents chills, fever, etc.

"I have been a dyspeptic for years; began to use the Simmons' Liver Regulator two years ago; it has acted like a charm in my case."

—Rev. J. C. HOLMES, "Clayton, Ala."

Mr. Henry Small, who was, many years ago, a citizen and leading merchant of this town, has after trying several other places, concluded that Hartford is the best place after all, and that the people of Ohio county are as good as the world contains, and has come back among us to spend the evening of his life here. Many of our citizens will remember him as one of the live merchants here some fifteen to twenty years ago. He has engaged in the goods business here with Mr. E. Small at the Trad Palace and they do not will keep a first-class store in every particular.

Of all classes of humanity the printer needs the softening influences of woman. He lives and breathes the communications of contention and vituperation, until he becomes suspicious and morose, and the world to him is a huge ball of contradictions, which only the pure presence of innocence can unravel and free of its imperfections. Such were the strains of our thoughts as Misses Maggie Moseley and Lizzie Walker lit up the gloomy darkness of our office through their cheerful presence, and we felt there was yet something to live for—some happiness in the world, for others if not for ourself.

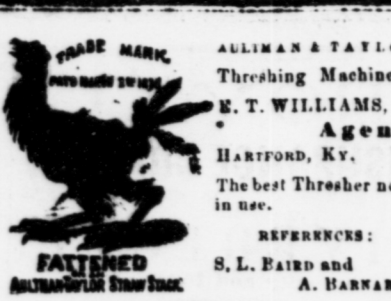

An orange peeling is a good thing in its place, but when they are dropped around miscellaneous on the pavement, they are calculated to make a man forget which church he is a member of; and are the means sometimes of making fair damsels blush and wish they hadn't been there. There was a "hateful" peeling lying on the pavement the other day, and as luck (for us) would have it, a dainty little creature came tripping noiselessly along that way. She tread squarely upon the said

When her fairy feet, so small and neat, trod down the orange upon the grass— And then she did exclaim— "That orange was so nice— I must feel like keeping it." But the smiling mood was no good— Come, Billy, stop your peeping.

Hartford Colored School Exhibition.

Take notice, everybody, and come to the exhibition on July 7th, 1877. The children will meet at the M. E. Church at 9 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock will march through town to Mr. Foreman's spring where a lecture will be given by G. C. Wedding, Esq., upon the subject of Education. There will be an exhibition at night, commencing at 8 o'clock. There will be about one hundred pieces, including songs, plays, &c. Admission 10 cents.

Rev. George W. Leach.

For Sale: A new Home Sewing Machine. Call at this office and examine it. Will sell it at a bargain.

A Bare Chance. I have a good $95.00 dollar Florence Sewing Machine which I will sell, or exchange for a horse. J. F. YAGGER, 325 St.

Notice. All persons indebted to the firm of William Austin & Sons, are requested to come forward and settle up their claims, as the death of my brother John, makes it necessary for me to wind up the business of said firm. HARRISON AUSTIN, Administrator of JOHN AUSTIN.

Notice. Those owing me individually and as Administrator of L. L. Smith, deceased, will greatly oblige me in calling and settling with me, as I have only until September, to wind up my business. E. F. TILFORD, 225-2.

For Sale. Two good milk cows with young calves. Apply to J. F. COLLINS.

The barbeque at Hines' mill, on the 23rd ult, did not wind up very peacefully. Mr. Peyton Hamilton and a man who we understand is named Davis had a little misunderstanding, and Hamilton struck a knife into Davis' forehead and broke the point off. He then laid him out with a single-tee. We have not heard whether Davis recovered or not, and do not know whether Hamilton has been arrested and tried or not.

Daniel Smith and W. H. Felix also had a slight altercation, in which Felix came out a little worsted. Rumor has it that Dan brass-knocked him a little, but how true it is we do not know.

Boys, don't do that way any more. You can't afford it. Be good, peaceful citizens. If you want to exhibit your manhood, do it by swinging an axe or mauling rails, but for heaven's sake, your own sake, in the name of civilization, quit cutting, beating and pounding each other up.

One barrel of fancy syrup. E. T. WILLIAMS.

Dr.—In Breckenridge county, Ky., near the Ohio county line, June 21st, 1877, of consumption, Minerva E. wife of Jasper Wilson, in the 38th year of her age.

Sister Wilson was born in Ohio county on the 10th of April, 1839. She joined the Baptist church at Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, at the age of 14 years, and lived a devoted Christian until her death. She was married to Mr. Wilson, March 22nd, 1866, and moved to Breckenridge county, where she died. She bore her long protracted illness with Christian meekness; was perfectly resigned and said she saw her way clear. She leaves a kind and good husband, two little sons and a sister and two brothers, beside a large number of relations and friends to mourn her loss.

FORENSIC. One hoghead New Orleans sugar at E. T. WILLIAMS.

Dr.—In Ohio county, Ky., near the Breckenridge county line, June 13th '77, Domenico Franchette, in the twenty-seventh year of his age. Frank Domenico, as he was called in America, was born in Lombardy, Italy, in the year 1850. In the year 1859 he came to America. In the year 1870 he came to Breckenridge county, and lived with Dr. Thomas Moorman that year, the next two years he lived with Mr. Joseph Cooper, who settled in Breckenridge county in the year 1815. In the winter of 1873, he was married to Miss Lenora J. Cooper, youngest daughter of Mr. Cooper. Shortly after his marriage he moved to his farm in Ohio county where he lived till his death. The cause of his death should be a warning to all that have the care of horses. About 9 o'clock Sunday morning, June 17th, he entered his stable where his two mules were. He spoke to one which instantly kicked him, but he did not appear to have been much hurt by the blow. He then spoke to the other one which also kicked him, and he commenced kicking it. The third time he kicked it, it kicked him in the stomach, causing his death the next evening, at 9 o'clock; Monday, June 18th. It is supposed he was not conscious of his death. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss. He was buried in Breckenridge county, in the family graveyard of Mr. Joseph Cooper.

FORENSIC. Our attention has been called to some new and useful cooking utensils recently invented. One of which is known as the Centennial Cake and Baking Pan, made of Russian iron, and is so constructed that after your cake is baked, you can instantly remove it without injuring it; and having a raised bottom the cake cannot possibly burn. It is also provided with a slide on the bottom, so that when you remove the tube, you can close the whole, making a pan with plain bottom for baking jelly or plain cakes, bread, etc. Another—The Kitchen Gem—is also a very useful and long-needed household necessity. It is a plated wire boiler or steamer to hang inside of an ordinary pot, for boiling or steaming vegetables, which, when done, can be easily removed perfectly dry without lifting the heavy, sooty iron pot off of the stove, avoiding the danger of burning the hands with the steam in pouring off the hot water. And the vegetables cannot possibly burn, if the water boils dry, as the steamer does not touch the bottom of the pot.

These goods are sold exclusively through agents to families, giving universal satisfaction, and presents a splendid opening for some reliable lady or gentleman canvasser of this county to secure the agency for a profitable business. For terms, territory, etc., write to L. E. Brown & Co., Nos. 214 and 216 Elm street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

J. D. Holbrook, of the firm of Holbrook & Rogers, has gone East to replenish their stock of Dry Goods. Those wishing anything in their line, would do well to wait till their goods come.

away with the first rain. And how many years it will be before every man on the street will have to build stairs to get down to the street. I see that Mr. Worners has had to do it already.

If there was the least hope that this course would lead to a final improvement of the streets, we might propose public grates and bear it. But it does seem that it is bound to lead to the final ruin of the streets, and the most serious injury of private property. The wash beyond Mr. Crow's and Griffin's, passes through culverts into the low bottom land. The wash between Mr. Crow's and Mr. Barrett's passes through a culvert at Mr. Ford's, and is carried into Rough creek, and the wash between Mr. Barrett's and Mulberry street meets in Market and is again taken into the creek, and the wash of the south end is carried into the ditches of the long levee, and all the wash of Market street, as far up as Mr. Gregory's, is swept into the creek with a volume and current that threatens ultimate ruin, not only to the streets, but the property adjoining it.

As a natural result, just so long as this culvert and ditching process continues, the evil must increase, for the currents of water concentrate at the lower points, the force of the current washes away the lower places faster than the high ones, and instead of the grade of our streets being reduced they will be increased, and we will finally reach beds of quicksand and fire-quick, that will render them impassible after every heavy rain.

There are now several dwellings in this town which can scarcely be reached by any kind of vehicle. Is it just and right that private property should be thus destroyed by thus carrying out a mode of working the streets that must involve the greater portion of our property in the same ruin? Were we looking forward to the day when two-story streets will be common, there might be some excuse of the present slow and costly mode of excavation, but Hartford, whose main boast is in eating saloons, groceries, beer cellars, and various bacchanalian institutions, and is almost minus churches, seminaries, schools, manufactories, and other moral and industrial institutions, it is feared will long lay in the rear with other one-horse villages.

Would it not be well to commence a moral, physical and material elevation, and build up instead of depress. And I would suggest that instead of working our streets on the present plan of having surveyors, teams and hands, and tearing up the hard earth with plows, while three hands are standing idle to see the fourth throw a shovel of dirt into a gully to be washed away the next rain, that the trustees employ one or more faithful men who will always be on hand with a cart or wheelbarrow, always ready to fill up every mudhole or gully that makes its appearance, with refuse coal dust, cinders or saw dust, an abundance of which could at all times be procured of private families, blacksmith shops, and steam mills. Then we could save our present soil, accumulate more, and finally form a solid and dry foundation for our streets.

Louisville Trade Goods.

There was an average fair trade last week. The tobacco market was very good. The offerings were fair of good lines of tobacco and the demand was steady with all grades, common selling from 25 to 30 cents lower than week before last. There was no noticeable change in the prices of the best grades. The sales during the week amount to about 400 hogheads.

The horse and mule trade was rather dull, there being none on the market; there was a good demand. About forty head of horses and mules were sold at auction, ranging in prices from $35 to $100. The hog market was dull, though the offerings were very good. The receipts were about 5,140. The demand was slow at $3.75 to $4.25.

Sheep were in fair demand, and the offerings slow. Old sheep brought from $3 to $4.50. Lambs were in good demand at $4 to $5.50. The receipts for the week were about 2,600.

The cattle market was very good, with a fair number of offerings. There was a slight decline in the Eastern market. The receipts in this city were about 100. Shipping cattle sold from $5 to $5.55, butchering from $3 to $4.50.

Choice butter is worth 12 to 14 cents, wholesale, common, from 12 to 10 cents. Eggs are steady at 8 cents.

Old chickens sold from $2.25 to $2.75. Spring chickens from $1.25 to $2.50. Ducks brought from $2 to $2.50 per dozen. Young turkeys from $1.25 to $2.00.

There was a slight decline in corn, the market was dull at 48 cents, and not much on the market. Hay was dull at $8 to $10.

The wool market is fair; burry wool is worth from 18 to 20 cts. Tub washed from 23 to 28c; combed from 30 to 37c.

Home potatoes bring from $2 to $3 per bushel; cabbage from 40 to 60 cents per bushel. Beans $1.75 to $2.25 per bushel; Peas 50 to 75 cents per barrel; Home onions $1 per bushel; cucumbers 20 to 25 cts per dozen. Apples sold from $1.75 to $2.50 per bushel. Raspberries are in demand at $7 to $8 per stand; currants from $6 to $7 per stand and very scarce at that. Currents always bring big prices in Louisville; cherries are also scarce and in demand at $5 per stand; Gooseberries from $2 to $3 per bushel, there being a good supply, such as they are, from the South.
